This was put to the ASF executive late in the after-noon and quickly rejected.

However, Olympic's president John Constantine said this week he hoped the proposal would be considered again the next time the ASF meets, in about four weeks' time.

"The decision, as it stands, is one of utter in-sanity. There is no way it can be justified.

The Philips League, which started its annual general meeting in Sydney while the ASF was making its deliberations, was incensed by the decision.

The clubs then agreed among themselves to share the cost of Olympic's air fares so that Olympic could be readmitted to make up a 15-team league.

Papasavas: system may kill our league

The Philips League may not survive in the long term if it is not granted the power to run its own affairs and decide its own destiny, PSL chairman Mr. Sam Papasavas (pictured) said this week.

"By accepting a club which has minimal sup-port, the league is doing itself harm."

The decision to replace Sydney Olympic in the PSL is a decision against ethnic clubs, according to Tony Vrzina, manager coach of Preston Makedonia, the Victorian club whose application for PSL membership was rejected.

"The ethnic clubs must organise themselves now to halt the backward slide of the game," Mr. Vrzina (pictured) said.

The State member for Corrimal, Mr Laurie Kelly, has joined Wollongong soccer officials in lodging a strong protest with the ASF after Wollongong's exclusion from the Philips League.

Mr Kelly said he had telephoned ASF president Sir Arthur George to express a strong protest against the decision.

He said he was shocked and was sure the people of Wollongong would greatly resent the decision.

Mr Kelly wants to motivate soccer followers in Wollongong to band together in an appeal to the ASF.

Wollongong's application was turned down in favour of Blacktown City and the decision has brought a storm of pro-test from the south coast. Wollongong committee spokesman Jim McCormack said he was still having trouble believing Wollongong has missed

"I'm still young enough to have another go, although I'm not expecting anything at this stage."
Westley is probably better prepared for professional soccer now after his stint in Australia. He was 18 when he first came here and admits he lacked confidence. "This season I changed my attitude. A lot of it was due to John Yzendoorn, because he gave me a lot of enouragement and advice.
"I' became more disciplined and trained a lot harder. My fitness is better, and my preparation to the game has improved.
"Earlier on, my attitude suffered and I used to go out the night before a game. Then, there was the time we had a player strike at Slavia and I put on 1½ stone during the lay-off."

Westley, who had an offer to join George Cross early this season, knows that to make a decent living from soccer in England, it must be in the First Division.

Westley polled well in the Rothmans Medal, gaining I votes to top the Slavia list. If he doesn't make it in England, he may return to Australia and continue his career.

Juventus forward Bobby McGuinness is the coaches' pick as the Victorian State League player of the year.

McGuinness polled 15 'votes' from coaches, two more than Tommy Cumming of Essendon Croatla who won the 1879 Bill Fleming and Rothmans Gold Medals.

"Soccer Action' took votes from coaches from the 12 State League clubs at the Rothmans Medal presentation. They were told to consider all players, regardless of whether they were sent off or not, with the criteria being outstanding performance.

Two coaches weren't present at the Rothmans Medial presentation. Slavia's Harry Chalkitis was interstate, so his votes were cast by Slavia's assistant coach Colin Hasier.

George Cross coach Billy Wilkinson was unable to attend, so George Cross players Jim Paparas, Norm Maltiand and Tony Castiello formed a 'panel' to award votes.

Here are the votes of each coach.—

However, there's one major stumbling block in his path to Rothmans Medal glory.

"I've got a big mouth," he admitted, "and referees just don't tolerate players with big mouths.

McGuinness has proved himself to be a player of class, but he fears his chances of ever returning to the Philips League were ruined by his brief stay with South Melbourne.

"There were too many problems at South Melbourne while I was there," he said. "Many of the players didn't like each other and it made it hard for me to settle in. Because of that, people probably say, "McGuinness can't play in the PSL because he was no good with South Melbourne."

"But I'd like to get back into the Philips League, because it's the top competition in Australia."

Croydon's best: Tront Pongho

Joe Tront, Croydon City's leading votegetter and fourth overall in the Rothmans count, is sur-prised by the number of votes he polled.

"I didn't have that good a season," said Joe, "and I thought that of all the boys at Croydon, Alan Pongho would get the most votes. Alan has definitely been our most consistent player."

In fact Pongho managed only 10 votes, and finished behind Tront and Duncan Smith, who were the leading players from Croydon.

Finishing fourth in the Rothmans Medal caps off a great season for Tront the former Mooroolbark and Heidelberg-Alexander player. He also rose to comparative fame with his performances in the Victorian to comparative fame with his performances in the Victorian State team. He has fisen to stature since early in the season, when critics slammed State coach Len McKendry for including 'unknowns' like Tront in his State team.

return: headaches for Hobson. Stars

Croydon City and Preston Makedonia, both winners in the first round of the State League Cup, will be boosted by the return of key players from suspension this week.

Duncan Smith, the dynamic captain of Croydon, has served a two-match ban, and is set to return to his team's midfield for the game against Essendon Croatia. Preston Makedonia has regained the services of George McMillan for the game against Frankston City, after the energetic striker missed last week's game through suspension.

And while both clubs are elated to see their stars back in action, both coaches — Norm Hobson of Croydon and Tony Vrzina of Makedonia — now have selection head-aches.

By KYLE PATTERSON

Hobson must drop someone to make room for Smith. However, the way Croydon played last week there is no bovious choice for the relegation to the bench.

"Hobson introduced young full back Mark Brown last week so that regular defender Jimmy Spink could move into midfield to replace Harry McKinlay, McKinlay had lasted only one game as Smith's replacement.

lasted only one game as Smith as replacement.

Brown did well in defence, and Spink had a fair game in midfield. Charlie Murphy is expected to recover from an injury he received early in last week's game against Frankston, meaning the midfield is likely to be Smith, Murphy and Tront.

Hobson would then be left with the choice of using Brown or Spink at right back, with McKinlay being a reserve. Whatever the choice of Hobson, some player is going to be unlucky to lose his place.

Preston's Tony Vrzina must make room for McMillan. Eric Lesbirel, the stand-in centre forward, will probably return to midfield. But then who makes way for Lesbirel.

for Lesbirel?
It's likely Stuart Cunningham, Gordon Flavell or Jeff Faulkner will be omitted, but none of these players deserve to be dropped.
Vrzina has a second minor decision to make, Midfielder Ljube Petrovski moved to full back last week, and Vrzina can retain him in that position, or use Mike Rainey.

Rainey.
It's likely Rainey will have to miss another game. But which midfielder will be dropped? Or maybe Lesbirel or McMillan will have to sit on the bench?
Hobson and Vrzina have headaches, but at least their teams are in the box seat to qualify for the final. After first round victories, both can afford to draw games this eek.

The losers face a much more difficult task. Both Esmoon Croatia and Frankston City must win their next to games to reach the final.

Essendon Croatia may make some changes. Ned Batinovic and Branko Culina are challenging Boris Paleka for a forward position.

Batinovic was amazingly omitted from the Croatia team against Preston Makedonia. In the Dockerty Cup final he scored two goals, which took Croatia from the brink of defeat to victory.

'BAD BOY' CAMPBELL KEY TO CITY'S CLIMB

By BRUCE WADDELL

There is little doubt that the mid-season acqusition of big, bustling Irish centre forward Bobby Campbell played a significant role in Brisbane City's feat in finishing in the Philips League top four.

Campbell did not join City until the 12th round and his debut was in the home match against South Melbourne, which City won 1-0. The only City identifies who knew anything of Campbell's background were coach Nero Saftich and midfielder Frank Pimblett. Saftich had Campbell earmarked for signing after watching him play for English Fourth Division club Huddersfield Town during a scouting mission at the end of 1977. But it took Saftitch a long time after that to get Campbell to Australia, chiefly due to the Irishman's wander-lust in other directins. Huddersfield sold Campbell to Sheffield United and from there he switched to Canada, playing for Vancouver Whitecaps in the NASL, where he was the club's leading goalscorer.

playing for Vancouver Whitecaps in the NASL, where he was the club's leading goalscore:

But it was in the home match against Mar-coni that Campbell reached his peak, although strangely enough he had been named on the bench.

City was down 2-0 at halftime, Campbell took the field and the match changed complexion completely. Campbell drove City forward by example, picked up two great goals and just failed to make something out of nothing.

know when he's beaten, judging by his per-formances to date.

Similar to his previous history, Campbell's future in Australia is uncertain. He is engaged to a lass in England and is undecided about where he will be married.

Saftich undoubtedly is hoping he will tie the knot in Australia, so that the big fellow will not be lost to Brisbane City and the PSL.

Only 23, Campbell, born in Belfast, would be a key asset for many years to come. In the immediate future, his job is oserve City well and carry his form into the top four round-robin series.

In the minutes that remained, Sydney City naturally pushed up and this allowed Brisbane City heaps of room, and on one occasion, Campbell almost snatched his hat-trick.

Kelso rose high for an Echiveria corner and beat Clarke. It was cleared off the line and Campbell's attempted shot into the corner was deliceted away by the defence.

Kelso, much rejuvenated compared to recent weeks, also found the time to test Clarke with a last minute chip shot from well out, which the former Socceroo keeper only just managed to tip over the bar.

With the match slipping away, it seemed a strange decision by coach Chaldi to replace Kershaw with another defender in Thomson, although Souness did try to push up from leftback more into the midfield.

It made little difference, even after Brisbane lost in-jured Pimblett and striker Caldwell came on, with Low dropping back to the inidde.

Chaldi waited until the 80th minute to use his other replacement, former match-winner Terry Smith, but by then the bird had well and truly flown.

Reserves share title

Frankston City and Essendon Croatia have shared the Victorian State League reserves championship after finishing level on points

Groatia was set to take the title outright when it led Slavia 3-1 10 minutes from the end of their postponed game last Saturday. Confident that victory had been acchived, Croatia replaced key players Ned Batinovic who had scored twice, and Branko Culina and promptly conceded two goals.

After the 2-victory, Croatia had 30 goals for, 15 against and 32 piluts. So did Frankston, which had led the league before this match.

It's all over for eight

The players can rest their tired legs; the coaches can sleep at right; the club officials can stop worrying and the supporters can hope for better things next season.

The 1979 season is over for eight of the 12 Victorian State League clubs, and so 'Soccer Action' takes a look at the 1979 performances of these clubs.

The eight clubs featured finished outside the top four and naturally they will be aiming to do better in 1980.

This review includes all Ampol Cup, Dockerty Cup and State League championship games, with scorers.

Four clubs — Preston Makedonia, Croydon City, Frankston Clty and Essendon Crotia — are involved in the State League Cup, 'Soccer Action' will have a review of their performances later.

The domination over Preston Makedonia was total this season. In the Ampol Cup, Sunshine lost only once.

The domination over Preston Makedonia was total this season. In the Ampol Cup, Sunshine won by the narrowest of margins, taking the match on penalties over a 0-0 draw.

This record prompts one question: if Sunshine was unbeaten in three games with one of the strongest clubs in the league, why then did it finish in ninth position?

The future of the club is bright enough. Sunshine has several promising yound may be restrictive. Sunshine can't plan too far ahead for fear of Vic Rail, the owners of Chaplin Reserve, may bump the rent up to an exhorbitant level.

Emphasis on group skills is needed

One junior coach recently accused me of hammering

"Our kids are on a par with those in the rest of the world, it's when they get to the senior level that they drop back."

I had to concede that he had a point.
I remembered few years back the Australian schoolboy team giving England schoolboys a good game in Sydney before losing 6/2.

That Australian team's centre back Im Rowden has made his mark with APIA and Sydney Olympic, whereas the Eng-land centre back, Higgins has been a regu-lar with Everton.

Was Higgins always better than Rowden, or did Higgins subsequently get better coaching, or did he just gravitate up to the higher standard asked of him in England?

Probably a mixture of all of these.

Whatever we say about the relative standards at senior and junior level, the fact is that our players are not as skilful as they need to be and our teams do not piay

A team will recognise which strategy to use if it has been coached in reacting the correct way.

This is the last of a three-part series dealing with the need to upgrade the level of skill of our players and toems, especially in the light of moves to directically out back on oversees players. The teaching of individual and group skills will be in-creasingly important.

Often this season, I have seen professional teams win the ball in their own defensive area with the opponent having maybe seven men upfield, yet a slow attacking build-up is started which allows the other team to recover and regroup its defence.

defence. Yet another time presents itself when the team wins the ball in its defensive zone with only a couple of its opponents' players upfield, the rest in their own half and instead of a composed build-up, the team winning the ball belts it forward into the mass of players waiting in the other half.

team winning the ball belts it forward into the mass of players waiting in the other half.

This is a common occurrence indicating lack of tactical knowledge among the players.

One coach who has worked very hard this season on those type of group skills is Victorian State coach, Lea McKendry.

He has been able to get his players one night per week and work on individual and group skills without having to worry about the requirements of fitness and to a certain extent, motivation which takes up some of the time of the club coach.

The result has been outstanding.

Most of his players have been through coaching courses under McKendry in his prevent of Vectorian director of coaching and when he talks about "closing down players ... petting goal side ... giving depth in attack ... petting compact in defence ..." some of the things the Victorian team has worked on as a group with McKendry.

Two years ago, I spent a formight with McKendry staffing a senior coaching course in Sydney.

He told me how he had watched Bayern

Munich train for two hours solid on how to free sweeper Franz Beckenbauer in the midfield and then exploit his probing passes to interchanging strikers. This type of group skill is rarely worked on with Australia's professional teams. There are several reasons for this. Some of the coaches cannot coach these skills.

Others that can, are often inhibited by players who, after a day at work, do not want to do a session of coaching "work".

Rather than "work" at the game, they Play six-asides, play two touch and generally do relaxing training which is easier to take and more enjoyable. However, for Australia's professional soccer to improve and provide more entertainment, the players will have to be more proficient in individual and group skills.

Malcolm Allison, a coach (not necessarily a manager) whom I admire, told me a couple of years ago in England that he had conditioned his players to the fact that he would not waste time on uroached six-a-sides.

In Adelalde, during my period there, I coached six-a-sides.

In Adelaide, during my period there, I watched Belgrade's Red Star train for an hour and a half.

At one end of Hindmarsh Stadium, three midfielders and three strikers were at-tacking a goal without opposition.

tacking a goal without opposition.

One of the midfielders was the main playmaker and he continually fed balls to the other five who interchanged positions fluidly, timing their runs to perfection, obviously the result of the many hours they had spent on this activity.

Len McKendry's Victorian team has proven that this "working" at the game can bring its own enjoyment— the supreme soccer enjoyment, playing well and winning.

COSMOS REJECTED BY NEWCASTI

This is because of impossible demands by the promoters of the Cosmos' tour.

After changing its original offer several times, International Artists, the tour promoters, came up with a final offer out of all proportion to the occasions and its importance. It was an offer certainly beyond the reach of a club barely two years old.

Originally, Newcastle KB United was offered what was describred as a 'match fee' of $10,000 to stage the fixture, orecast as being the biggest sporting event of its kind ever staged in the north. It was estimated that more than 20,000 would throng the International Sports Centre on October 28 for the match.

Then came the final, crunching offer.

The promoter offered a package deal — playing fee, transport, accommodation and other expenses at $90,000 with Newcastle KB United keeping any sum taken above that amount to a limit of $10,000.

Even with gate receipts of $100,000 KB United would have gained something like the original $10,000 proposition, while any amount above $100,000 would have gone into the promoter's pockets.

No matter which way Newcastle KB United Club moved, it seems it would have been left holding the bag—and an empty one at that.

As KB United's astute secretary, Paul Trisley, said:
"We would have been at a great and grave financial risk—and we are in the business to make money, not to throw it make money, not to throw it away."

in the 68th minute.

The Knox line-up suffered a blow early when right back Vince Bell injured his knee. He was replaced by Phil Duming.

It was Duming who made Knox's goal in the 20th minute. He made ground on the right and sent a deep cross in the direction of Eugene McConville. Collingwood goalkeeper Victor Donis looked to have the cross covered, but spilled it off his McConville was on hand to push the ball home with greatest of ease. Dick Ward was excellent as the Knox sweeper added by Mike Sinclair. Their two previous encounters at Main Road resulted in 0-0 and 0-0.

Last seasons' draw specialist; Norwich, makes the trip to Wolverhampton. Both clubs have made an excellent start to this campaign.

The home team can be formidable on its own ground, but with its current form and reputation, I think that Norwich will be good enough to hold the Wolves at bay.

The Second Division matches sees a number of the leaders having home games.

anumber of the leaders having home games.

I wouldn't be surprised to see at least six home wins in this ladder. The strongest looking teams at home appear to be Chelsea, Leicester, Luton, Newcastle, Noits County and Q.P.R.

The best looking score draw prospects from this division are Orient v. Watford and Swansea v. Fulham.

My other score draw selections for this week are, Blackpool, Grimsby, Mansfield, Oxford, Doncaster, Hartlepool, Huddersfield and Motherwell.

My planned entry for this week covers 14 matches. If you would like to try this bet I have left a blank line in the diagram for your selections, It involves four entries of system Il and one entry of system 12. The investment is $3.50.

Choose your 14 matches. Reading from left to right put your best two selections in the first two spaces of the diagram. It doesn't matter in what order you place your other 12 matches.

When you have marked all your selections on the blank line, use the corresponding X's as set out in the diagram as you transfer your numbers on to the entry forms.

With eight score draws in any one of the five system entries a first dividend is sayured.

A first dividend would be assured also if your best two selections are score assured.

• A first dividend would be assured also if your best two selections are score draws and you have a further seven score draws falling anywhere among your other 12 selections.

Until next week, good luck and good numbing anywhere among your other 12 selections.

with Michael Morley

If there is such a thing as the "Peak Period" of form for soccer matches - we are about to lieve it has all the ingredients of a score draw.

There are several factors to indicate that over the next six weeks, the results of the U.K. soccer matches will be at their most predictable. In terms of matches played, the teams are about a quarter way through the season. The form is a stable now as it's likely to be for the remainder of the term.

it's likely to be for the remainder of the term.

The English grounds are usually at their best at this time of year. The first round of the F.A. Cup is due to be played on November 24. Exciting though the Cup games may be, they put a lot of extra pressure on the players.

More matches bring more tension. Add to this the deterioration of the grounds as the English winter approaches. So going back to my opening theme, I reckon that now would be as good a time as ever for getting stuck into the form. If you study the ladders you can see at a glance who is doing what.

A little more time spent in study obviously could be rewarding. It's true that you need a bit of luck to win the pools, but good forecasting can also play its part.

By identifying and separating the Both clubs are currently in the lower region of the ladder and I wouldn't care to nominate the winner.

Newly-promoted Brighton takes on Leeds. This is another game that concerns two of the lower placed teams. Leeds is nothing of the force it once was, and I confidently tip Brighton to earn a point.

There can be little doubt that the New South Wales under 15s are the best junior team in Australia.

After all, they won the national championship in 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1979 as they worked their way up through the age groups. Their latest triumph was in the under 15 titles in Perth.

The squad, coached by Vic Dalgleish, was: Dean de Haas, Phillip McNiece (Sutherland), Wayne Bates, Daniel Zanella,

Juve Old Boys fight back

Juventus Old Boys lost 1-2 to Mel-bourne in their first game for many years mainly due to lack of condition.

They will go into training and meet Melbourne in a revenge match.

Referee was Bruno Morabito, a top whistleman of the sixties.

Juventus plans to stage regular Old Boys' games next year. Former players are asked to contact manager Rocco DiZio on 592 3887 or president Georgio Penzo on 308 1700.

Socceroo tormentor a hit in West Germany

The star attraction of the Eintracht Frankfurt team of West Germany is winger Che Burn Keun, the South Korean intekmational. Che Burn Keun made 141 appearances for his country, many against the Australian national team. Unfortunately for the Aussies, Che Burn Keun terrorised the Socceroo defence on many occassions.
